YANKEE STADIUM, New York, Oct. 3.—Following a forced march across the Harlem, Col. Will Terry rallied his retreating, disorganized Giants this afternoon and made a stand in the camp of the enemy Yankees for the third game of the current world series between the "Civil War" clubs of New York.

The series stood at one-victory each before the game; only the Yankees' performance yesterday was more than a victory. It was a massacre by 18 to 4, breaking practically all scoring records for the series.

The effect of this and the continued good weather brought out what promised to be the record crowd of all series history. Playing to capacity, the stadium will seat more than 65,000 today, thus beating the previous record, 63,800, by the Yanks and Cardinals ten years ago.

See Stadium Sellout

Every indication was that the crowd would do just that. There were 10,000 in line when the gates opened this morning and, within an hour, the bleacher capacity of 18,000 was completely exhausted. This entire upper grandstand, also an unreserved section, was selling steadily and in fact, rapidly—with the prospect that it would be disposed of to the last seat before game time. The reserved sections were understood to be a sellout as long ago as last Monday.

TOPEKA, Kas., Oct. 3.—Governor Alvin K. Landon today approved an itinerary of major stops for his fourth campaign tour, a drive to win the electoral votes of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan.

The Republican nominee will make these major stops:

Chicago night of October 9; Columbus night of October 10; Cincinnati night of October 11; Cleveland night of October 12 and Detroit night of October 13. He will deliver major addresses in Chicago, Cleveland and Detroit.

Visit Boyhood Home

One of the high-lights of the trip will be Landon's visit to his old boyhood home in Marietta, where he attended Marietta Academy as a youth. It was there he started and ended his football career by breaking a shoulder bone in a game against a West Virginia eleven. He will spend Sunday in his old home town, attending divine services in (Continued On Page Two)

Alice Longworth Says

(Special To The News)
CINCINNATI, Oct. 2.—The arrest of Mr. Browder, the Communist candidate for president, by the chief of police of Terre Haute, Indiana, seems slightly over-zealous.

As long as Mr.

Browder refrains from inciting to acts of violence, advocating overthrow of the government by force, he has the right to preach his doctrines regardless of how repugnant they are to us. Mr. Roosevelt's repudiation of "the support of advocates of Communism or any other alien 'ism'" doesn't warrant the arrest on a charge of vagrancy of any candidate for president, no matter how obscure or negligible he may be.

The Communist party has few members in the United States. Those who would like to see a change in our form of government don't have to look any further than the New Deal to find sign posts pointing to any sort of change: "You may desire."

The surest way to increase Mr. Browder following is to make a martyr of him. Ordinarily common sense says "let him have his radio soap box."

Loyalists May Make Attempt To Recapture Toledo Also

HASTILY MOBILIZE 20,000 RECRUITS

MADRID, Oct. 3.—Twenty thousand hastily mobilized recruits will be rushed to the southwestern front shortly in an attempt not only to check the rebel advance from this direction, but also to recapture Toledo, the government announced officially today.

Not the least of the aims of the expedition will be to free 300 loyalist soldiers besieged in the Santa Cristina district of Toledo, where rebels have turned the tables on the leftists.

The insurgents, who captured Toledo in a dash principally to release the long-besieged rebel cadets and their families in the historic Alcazar, curiously have reversed the situation which prevailed for more than two months, it was disclosed today, by trapping 300 government soldiers in Santa Cristina.

As admitted by the government officials here, the loyalists are still holding out against the rebels, barricaded behind sandbags and boarded windows, from which they take pot shots at any approaching rebel.

The government is anxious to free them, fearing they will be slaughtered otherwise.

Believing Son Injured In Football Contest; Mother Collapses; Dies

(International News Service)
TARENTUM, Pa., Oct. 3.—A mother who collapsed of a heart attack when she thought her son had been injured in a high school football game here, died early today.

At her bedside was her son, James Dalcherone, 18, captain and right guard of the Springdale football team, who had been prevented from leaving the field to go to his mother's aid by a referee. Assured that his mother's condition was "fair," he played a brilliant game and Springdale won, 13 to 0.

The mother, Mrs. Frances Dalcherone, 47, lay meanwhile on her death bed here. She was the mother of 11 children.

Mrs. Dalcherone collapsed at the sight of a player writhing in agony. She thought it was James. Uninjured, James saw the incident and ran towards his mother but the referee stopped him.

It was just a few minutes after the kick-off in the Springdale game here today that Eddie Goodlow, a Springdale fullback, was kicked. He clasped his arms about his abdomen and rolled on the field. (Continued On Page Two)

From "Shower"

(International News Service)
COVINGTON, Ky., Oct. 3.—Complete absence of clues today blocked police in their search for the murderer of Miss Frances Marie Brady, 30, the girl was shot and killed by an unidentified intruder who fired as she opened the front door of her residence here. Miss Brady had just returned from a "shower" in anticipation of her wedding next week.

Not entirely satisfied with the theory that the slayer was a burglar, police pressed their investigation to determine whether such belief was justified. They pointed out that while two dresser drawers had been opened, they had not been rifled. Wedding presents on a dining room table were undisturbed.

Miss Brady was to have been married next Wednesday to John J. O'Connell, also of Covington. With her Elsie and Margaret. They said the intruder confronted Frances when she opened the door. Her screams were met by a revolver shot, the bullet causing her death a few minutes later. The murderer escaped through a rear exit.

TEACHERS SELECT OFFICERS FOR YEAR

Before an audience of over 300 teachers and principals from Lawrence county schools at Union high school, Dr. Lester K. Ade, superintendent, Department of Public Instruction, Harrisburg spoke on the topic, "Essentials of a Good School System," this morning.

The session was opened by County Superintendent of Schools John C. Sylling, who in turn introduced the state superintendent.

Dr. Ade placed before the teachers six main essentials of a good school system. First, he ranked good will in the community, and in their respective order came: Good material, good buildings and surroundings, good teachers, spirit of cooperation between the teacher and the pupil, and the power of the teacher to instill thinking into the mind of the student.

A short intermission followed the opening talk and at 10:30 Superintendent Sylling again called upon Dr. H. G. Gage, instructor, Millersville State Teachers College, for a talk. His topic was "Elements of National Greatness," and stressed the educational factors in famous people.

To close the morning session Dr. Paul F. Voelker, president, Grand Rapids College of Applied Science, delivered his second address of the (Continued On Page Two)

Officers for the two years ahead were named by the 250 men present. They are Henry V. Mason of West Middlesex, president; J. S. Bowater of Ellwood City, vice president; and H. G. Gibson of New Castle, secretary and treasurer.

Dr. Master's address was an inspirational one, filled with optimism for the future of the church, but charged with the necessity of the layman taking his proper part in the work of the church.

"There is need for a revitalization in the church," said Dr. Master. "The preacher cannot do it all, the laymen must do their share. I am optimistic over the future of the church but it calls for real service by the men of the church."

SEYFFERT IS ACTING HEAD

Announcement of the resignation of Capt. George F. Mitchell as commander of Troop F, was made to members of the troop at their drill session last evening, the resignation taking effect immediately.

First Lieutenant George F. Seyffert will be in command of the Troop until a successor to Capt. Mitchell is announced by the Adjutant General of the state. Second Lieutenant William Gochring will be second in command.

Inability to devote his full time to the duties of the office was the reason given by Capt. Mitchell for leaving the service, but he expects to continue as a reserve officer in the United States forces.

Capt. Mitchell was appointed commander of the Troop on February 12, 1935, having risen from the ranks during the ten years he has been a member of the organization.

Members of the Troop received the word of Capt. Mitchell's resignation with regret as he has been a popular commander since he took over the duties of the post a year and a half ago.

FRANKFORT-ON-MAIN, Germany, Oct. 3.—Marking completion of the first lap of my projected record-breaking tour around the world, the giant dirigible Hindenburg nosed easily into the Frankfort landing field today, just 58 hours and 3 minutes out of Lakehurst, New Jersey.

We had covered 3,591 sea miles aboard the luxurious sky-liner—a trip packed with thrills, adventure and suspense.

The suspense was due to keen and anxious speculation regarding our connections to Italy and then on to the Far East, after reeling off a beautiful clip two-thirds of the way over the Atlantic, the Hindenburg had to slow down because of headwinds.

We were making 61 knots as the huge ship soared over the English Channel at 5 o'clock this morning New York time.

But it was breakfast time for us. (Continued On Page Two)

It can't be four years since this fellow came, but it is and the calendar's right, he isn't a baby much any more, but a tough guy who's full of fight. The years slip by like a ship in a dream, they come and they're here no more, and this is another milestone for him, this one is marked up four. Too fast goes the time and he's growing up, his baby time's nearly away, and a husky lad has replaced the babe, it's sixty three today.

PA NEW OBSERVES

A heavy fog last night staved off another threat of frost, postponing the death of flowers and vegetables for another day or so.

Today is the final day for registration of voters in New Castle for the November election. The registration list is already higher than ever in history, and indications point to the greatest vote in this city on November 3, that has ever been polled.

Sunday is rally day in many of the churches of New Castle and Lawrence county and special programs will be presented. Likewise, efforts are being made to have record attendances at the various services.

New traffic regulations were put in effect on the Public Square this morning, and many auto drivers were rather confused at the new system. A police officer was on hand to help keep the traffic from becoming tangled. Left turns are prohibited into Jefferson street for cars travelling west on Washington street, and into Washington street for cars travelling north on Jefferson street.

PRATT DULTON, 60 HELD BY POLICE

(International News Service) WEST CHESTER, Pa., Oct. 3.—Wounded in the knee by a rifle bullet, Pratt Dulton, 60, a farmer, today was under police guard in Chester county hospital as an aftermath of a two hour gun battle in which he allegedly killed one man and wounded three others.

Barricading himself in his hillside barn with two shotguns and a rifle, Dulton opened fire to prevent the public sale of his meagre personal possessions by a constable to satisfy a debt of $75. More than 50 shots were fired by a posse of 30 armed men before Dulton surrendered after a steel-jacketed bullet shattered his kneecap.

Besides Dulton, the victims of the battle were: Ailee Jackson, 75, a neighbor and close friend of Dulton, who was killed.

Lawrence Urbine, 40, of Coatesville the constable who started the sale, wounded in the right knee; Jesse March, 42, a contractor, who, like Jackson, was a bystander and Jerry Monaghan, a West Chester policeman.

resulting in one riot, and an alarming rise of food prices as the franc fell to below the five-cent level.

Involves Pay Increases

The restaurant strike involves pay increases promised by employers under collective contracts which the general federation of labor charges, were not put into effect by smaller restaurants.

Strikers staged a lunch-hour demonstration in front of some of the larger cafes, and police were called out to surround the Cafe Montparnasse in the exclusive Champs Elysees when fighting threatened to break out between strikers and waiters still on duty.

Parisians and tourists first became aware of the strike as the time for the day's first drink approached, and they found their favorite cafes closed, including the famous Cafe De La Paix in the hub of the city.

For the first time in history, the iron shutters were shut in front of the Ritz, with only room for guests to pass in and out in single-file.

Move To Combat Rising Prices

Geneva, Oct. 3.—In a drastic move to combat the wave of rising prices in France resulting from devaluation of the franc, the French government has drafted more than 100 decrees removing quotas on imports from foreign countries and reducing customs duties on non-quota products, it was learned today.

The decrees will be revealed to a League of Nations committee Monday by Paul Bastid, French minister of commerce.

It is planned to cut tariffs by 15 to 20 per cent, corresponding with the estimated rise in the French price index.

Sources close to the French league delegation explained that the scheme is an attempt to establish a "delicate balance" by lowering quotas and tariffs sufficiently to allow foreign competition to keep down French internal prices without impairing the benefits of devaluation to French industry.

At the same time, it was said, Bastid will present the move as a gesture towards economic peace, by advocating an all-round lowering of trade barriers.

and coffee and toast were in order as we flew over the chalk cliffs of Dover, Eastbourne and Folkestone. The visibility was fine and our shadow falling over the English coastline made a truly beautiful sight.

On our right was Calais, bathed in sunshine, lovely to look at in its mellow age.

First Greetings

We had our first European greeting in the shape of an Amsterdam-bound passenger plane from London which roared about us in a graceful circle.

We three participants in this latest and greatest attempt to pull the world's belt a few notches tighter—H. E. Ekins, Leo Kieran and myself—spent a fruitful morning.

We knew the Hindenburg's reduced speed would make us miss the Rome-bound plane leaving Frankfurt at 11:45 A.M., but we did hope we'd land in time to make a 2 o'clock train.

But it was 3:20 P.M. Frankfurt time when we touched the ground and although courteous advance arrangements got us through the customs in the record time of twenty minutes and the train, as trains will, had pulled along it way.

On Way To East

How relieved I was to find that a place had been reserved for me on another plane leaving for Munich at 5:25 P.M. This will get me to the old Bavarian capital at 7:30.

My train leaves for Rome. There I connect with an Imperial Airways train for Brindisi, nipping off place for the mysterious East.

No one less than General Franz Von Epp, Nazi governor of Bavaria and one of Chancellor Hitler's own right hand men, has kindly volunteered to lend a hand in seeing Dorothy get aboard the right train and doesn't go steaming off toward Norway.

One of the nicest messages we have received came today from the Mayor of San Francisco, who offered a gold nugget to the first of the three of us to drop two flags—one European and one Asiatic—on the site of the 1939 Golden Gate Exposition in San Francisco bay.

Each of us were sure we'd be the one to win it and there was a lot of pleasant speculation as to how we'd spend it—if one can spend a gold nugget these off-the-gold-standard days.

We also planned how and when and where we'd buy the flags and wondered what European and Asiatic nation the mayor would prefer or whether it didn't make any difference.

We also wondered whether the China Clipper, which will carry us from Manila to San Francisco, flies over this site and if not whether the pilot would accommodate with a detour for the sake of a gold nugget.

Beautiful Sight

After passing over Dunkirk and Ostend, the Hindenburg soared over Holland.

It was a beautiful sight from the air. Flissingen, on the shore of a sparkling lake, was like a toy village. The houses seemed all to be gray with red roofs and nearby I saw my first authentic Dutch windmill—just like in the picture books.

Gathered around were lots of Dutch people in their bright clothing. They waved at us as the ship flew overhead but cows in their pastures seemed frightened by our shadow and the roar of our motors.

Strangely enough, we saw only one automobile in all of Holland. There must be more, of course, but the roads seemed to be full of nothing but bicycles.

The land was immaculate and peaceful looking, and even the forts along the coastline looked like little boys' toys.

There were occasional flashes of ultra-modernity, such as some of the factories in industrial centers like Eindhoven, which has the longest canal in Holland—a real distinction in a country which has so many of them!

Leaving the peaceful, uncrowded flat plains of the Netherlands we crossed the Rhine and flew into Germany.

As night here and now I'd like to settle that endless argument among world travelers and the Chambers of Commerce of New York and New Jersey can take note.

The Rhine, for all its history, for all its pretty white houses and for all its musty castles, can't touch the Hudson.

RECORD CROWD WATCHES THIRD GAME OF SERIES

Giants, and Bump Hadley, of the Yankees, scheduled as the starting pitchers, the belief was that yesterday's lavish hitting would be carried over to this afternoon, possibly by both clubs. Fitzsimmons, a low ball pitcher, was knocked out of the box by the Brooklyn Dodgers the last time he pitched, which was a week ago. Hadley sometimes is a good man for six innings, sometimes less, sometimes, in fact, he is not a good man at all.

See Hubbell Victories

He made the rifle for this hot-spot game because Monte Pearson pulled up with "misery" in his back. They say, however, that Monte may recover at time to face Hubbell tomorrow which ought to settle the misery business for the duration of the series.

Hubbell was regarded as a sure shot to win this one and also his third effort, thus equally a world's series record. So that today's meeting was psychologically not unlike yesterday's. The Yanks simply had to knock off the "cousins" while awaiting further visits from Uncle Carl.

They were suddenly held so lightly, in fact, by the betting profession that the odds took a violent juggling this morning, with the Yanks going to quite a short price. The later were 5 to 3 to take today's game and 2 to 1 to take the series.

It was estimated that a half million was bet in the park during yesterday's shambles, but most of it rode on hits, walks and other side issues. After the third inning one could have had the Giants as a team for 50 to 1.

With more than an hour to go, the unreserved upper stand held 70 per cent of capacity, with 15,000 occupying seats. They made a lot of noise during the Yankee workout—and got a good show, at that. For Gehrig, Dickey and Selkirk kept pummeling balls into the distant right field bleachers at a great rate.

However, it remained for Sam Leslie, Giant substitute, to put on the real act during the visiting workout. He appeared at the plate, took three pitches—and hit three in succession into the right field stands.

With the Yanks pitching a right-hander, Ted, shifted his stance for the outfield, returning Jim Rippie to centerfield in place of Leiber, and elevating Mel Ott to the clean-up spot. Otherwise, everything was to be as it had been yesterday—with, we hope, reservations.

Down on the field the talk of the Yankees was that the first inning would make all the difference in the world to Hadley.

"If he gets by that," they said, "everything will be all right. He isn't very fast, but he has a good curve ball and it will stop the Giants if they don't get him out of there right away."

The Giants said that the only question, about Fitzsimmons, was control. He had to keep his sinker low around the knees or—good night, Tosti. We'll have to get out the double entry ledgers again.

Phoebe Royston Weds C. Clark At Informal Church Wedding

Bells of St. John's Episcopal church, Youngstown, O., pealed out at the hour of eleven this morning for the wedding of two prominent New Castleites when Phoebe Ethel Royston, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LaFayette Royston of Glenmore Boulevard, became the bride of C. Clark, son of Mrs. Sarah Clark, Northview avenue, at one of the most distinguished ceremonies of the fall season. The Rev. L. W. Stryker, rector and a friend of the Royston family, read the Episcopal service, in the presence of several hundred guests of the young couple.

The church altar, beautifully decorated, was almost entirely hidden with row upon row of graceful palms and ferns, intermingled with foliage and spikes of white gladiolus and pompons, lending a solid background of color. Single Cathedral candles in tall standards placed at either side, reflected upon ten little choir boys in robes, seated in the front rows of the choir pews.

When the organist, Frank E. Fuller, had concluded a half hour program of nuptial music beginning with a hymn, a period of silence was declared and eleven cathedral chimes were sounded. As the last echo faded, the melodious strains of the "Lohengrin" Bridal Chorus were heard, announcing the approach of the bride.

The bride, entering on the arm of her father, Mr. Royston, was modish and girlish, yet dignified, in a smart informal gold silk jersey crepe dress of her own design. It was patterned along empire lines with the new swing skirt, and doleman sleeves which buttoned in points over her hands. The high neckline, distinctive with a cluster of gardenias. She wore a black Spanish sailor hat with a tilted black grosgrain feather on one side, and black cut-out suede shoes completed her original ensemble.

She carried a black prayer book which came from England with matching grosgrain marker, belonging to Mrs. E. E. Arnold of this city, a close friend. The only heirloom worn, was a locket of yellow gold which her mother wore at her wedding twenty-four years ago, and a matching gold bracelet, a gift of the groom.

high school and Wayne Woodford, Youngstown resident.

The little choir boys sang two selections, one being "O Perfect Love" and the organist played softly during the ceremony, appropriate selections. The triumphant melodies of the Mendelssohn Wedding March rang out, as the pastor handed the bride a white leather bound "Bride's Book" which concealed her marriage certificate, and record space for the hundreds of guests to inscribe their names.

A congratulatory period was held in the parish house of the church when guests extended congratulations and best wishes.

Afterwards, the wedding party returned to New Castle in a caravan of cars where they were served luncheon at The Castleton Hotel. Covers were marked for thirty-five including the immediate families and a few intimate friends. The banquet tables, arranged in "U" shape, were attractive with floral centerpieces, trailing off in a simple wedding. When dessert had been served, a huge two layer all white wedding cake was brought in. A bl. different from the usual decorations, a little nest in all white containing two little love birds adorned the top. This was an exact duplicate of the bride's party dress.

Receiving guests at the hotel, were the bride and groom and their attendants, Mr. and Mrs. Royston and Mrs. Clark.

The bride's mother wore for her daughter's wedding, a dark green crepe dress, with matching shoes and hose, and London tan accessories. Her shoulder bouquet was made up of Johanna Hill roses. Mrs. Clark, mother of the groom, chose a plum sheer with velvet trimmings, and accompaniments in pearl gray. Her shoulder corsage was of tinted Briar Cliff roses.

Later in the day, Mr. Clark and his charming blonde bride, left on a motor trip. For her traveling attire, Mrs. Clark donned a chic shoulder length black kid skin cape, with plaits down the back, black antelope gloves and carried a smart antelope purse.

After October 18, the couple will be "at home" to their host of friends in their newly furnished apartment at 1602 Highland avenue, this city.

The bride is a graduate of Rayven High at Youngstown, O., in which city she resided until four years ago when her family moved to New Castle. She studied designing at Miami University, Mr. Clark, a graduate of the local high school is affiliated with the Bell Telephone Company as commercial representative, is active in the Townsman club and numerous civic organizations.

Both are leaders of the prominent social set here. Since the news of their betrothal was revealed, they have been honored at a number of parties and showers. A magnificent collection of wedding gifts has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Clark.

Guests were present at the wedding from New Castle, Harrisburg, New York City, Sandusky, O., Greenville, Sharon, Niles, O., Warren, O., Youngstown, O., Akron, O., Beaver, Beaver Falls and York, Pa.

Those who ushered, included Attorney Joseph R. McFate and Alfred H. Owens of this city, S. Glenn McCracken, principal of the Volant school.

APPENDIX SPOILS GIRLS SCHOOL RECORD

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Oct. 3.—In a battle between an appendix and a school attendance record, the appendix came out on top—and then came out permanently. Elizabeth Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith of this place, had not been absent nor tardy for school from the first grade to her junior year in high school, 10 full years.

She was stricken with appendicitis and was forced to undergo an operation at the Butler Hospital for its removal. Thus her school record is broken for the first time in a decade.

SERVICES IN ENGLISH

All services in the First Congregational church on Sunday will be in English, according to announcement by the pastor, Rev. Rees T. Williams, and communion will be administered in the morning.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Money Treaty Is Unexplained

Secretary Morgenthau Fails To Tell How Stabilization Will Be Attained

SENATE MUST RATIFY PACT

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer
WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Federal treasury financing is a mysterious thing. Only specialists understand it clearly. It is almost infinitely complicated. When mixed with diplomacy it baffles even the average expert.

Therefore I do not apologize for having failed at all clearly to comprehend Treasury Secretary Morgenthau's recent announcement of a currency stabilization compact between the United States, Britain and France. Where I particularly erred was in assuming that the secretary was including in his announcement an explanation of the fashion in which stabilization was to be effected. I thought he was doing so, but that I was too ignorant to make any sense out of it.

I find that I did myself an injustice.

METHOD NOT DISCLOSED

Mr. Morgenthau did say that an Anglo-Franco-American monetary stabilization agreement had been arrived at, that France was devaluing the franc and that Uncle Sam had a two-billion-dollar fund (not to mention Britain's and France's resources) to make the bargain effective. But he did not tell us in detail HOW it was to be made effective. I imagined at the time that he WAS telling how, but that the technique of the plan was too intricate for my financially untrained mind to follow.

Now I ascertain from real experts who were present, that he made only an announcement, with no explanation of the plan's methods that they could understand, either. Indeed, when questions were put to him, which might have elicited enlightening information, if answered, he sidestepped.

Banker friends of mine, who are skilled in international exchange transactions, testify that neither are they sure how the Anglo-Franco-American compact is to be fulfilled in actual practice.

STABILIZATION DESIRED

All this is not to assert that anything is the matter with the dicker. Even critics of the secrecy with which it was arrived at express the opinion that international currency stabilization is highly desirable—if it can be guaranteed.

But they would like to know more of the particulars of it. It is not alone that it is not defined in simple language. It is not defined in ANY language.

SENATE MUST RATIFY

In the first place, the stabilization deal is, in effect, a treaty and treaties are supposed under the United States constitution to be subject to ratification by the senate. The senate has not been consulted in this matter.

Secondly, it was a diplomatic arrangement, and Uncle Sam notoriously has been thimble-rigged in all diplomatic negotiations with old world governments.

Secretary Morgenthau may have been wily enough at least to have "broken" with Britain and France in their mutual understanding, but if he has, it will be a lone exception. The secretary himself, seems a trifle skeptical, for he points out that the bargain, after all, is a mere "gentlemen's agreement" if it works to America's disadvantage we can break it.

MRS. HARRY ALFORD HONORED AT SHOWER

Friday evening, the Misses Jeanne Bloomer and Dorothy Boughter entertained jointly at an attractively appointed dinner-shower honoring Mrs. Harry Alford, nee Dolores Gould, a bride of recent date.

The event took place at a nearby tavern on the Harlanburg road, at 6:30 o'clock. Fall flowers were used as the table centerpiece, and ribbons leading from the guests places had dainty favors in the form of miniature baskets, attached at the other end.

After the serving of a delicious menu, bridge claiming attention during the balance of the leisure period. Prizes fell to Myrna Smith and Helen Miles for winning distinction.

At an appropriate time, the guest of honor was presented with an array of a miscellaneous nature, for her home, this feature being cleverly carried out.

Helena Auxiliary

Helena Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian church had an all day quilting for the Granado Mission on Friday at the home of Mrs. C. R. Sherer, Mt. Jackson road.

Luncheon was served at 12:30 p. m. by Mrs. W. A. Pond, Mrs. J. Ed. Duff, Mrs. H. H. Beck, Mrs. Alger, Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Sherer.

Mrs. Pond, as president, took charge of the short business meeting. A very interesting program was offered. Mrs. L. H. Gordon led the devotion. Twenty-six members responded with geographical facts on Africa when the roll was called, and Miss Sarah Knott followed with an interesting talk on that country.

Two special guests were heard on the program, Dr. Pandora Simpson, returned missionary from India, who talked on her work in Jehulim, India, and Miss Harriet Chapman, of Springfield, Pa., who told of her experiences in Singapore, Malay.

The World At A Glance

commerce, it rendered a good account of itself. Perry's victory on Lake Erie, Macdonough's stroke at Plattsburg, and the stirring deeds of Lawrence, Rodgers and a score of commanders bore testimony to the valor of American seamen.

Finally, the British "blockaded the Atlantic coast, paralyzed American commerce, foreign and domestic, and held the whole seaboard in a vice-like grip."

Neither could gain a definite victory, or desired to go on. Russia tendered mediation. In July, 1814, delegates to the two nations met at Ghent, Switzerland. Following prolonged discussions, a peace treaty was agreed upon. There was no telegraph. America did not know for weeks afterwards. Jackson won his victory over the British at New Orleans after the peace treaty had been signed. There would have been great gloom in America without that victory—for the war had accomplished nothing except destruction.

A WAR ELECTION

The presidential election of 1812 occurred during the war. President Madison was opposed by many in his own party as one who lacked energy. Various party leaders "took a walk." The young bloods in control of congress were ablaze then, the war fervor.

When the congressional caucus for nominating Madison for a second term was held in May 1812, merely 83 of the 133 Democratic Republicans in congress attended. The election itself was close. De Witt Clinton of New York, an independent with the support of the Federalists, opposed Madison. Pennsylvania's 25 votes are all that saved the president. Clinton carried every northern state except Pennsylvania and Vermont.

Flying Hindered At Local Port

Flying has been temporarily suspended at the New Castle airport due to the fact that the work on the new port has now reached the site of the old runways.

According to Findlay C. Wilson, planes have not been flying out of the local port since last Monday, but it is hoped that provision may be made so that students may be able to use the field on Sunday.

The present airport will form one end of the large "X" of the new port. The ground has been leveled sufficiently now and it is believed that planes will fly from the port tomorrow, according to Mr. Wilson.

to suppose that he might intervene to nullify the effects of rattlesnake poison.

Now that our corner of the universe is known to contain thirty thousand million suns, some of them one million times as big as our sun, while millions of other universes are scattered through space, it is unreasonable to expect the ruler of so vast a realm to suspend laws that he has made, or personally to interfere with the effects of snake poison.

IMPORTANT from the political as well as the religious point of view is the visit to this country of Cardinal Pacelli, Papal Secretary of State, on his way to America.

It is the first time that a Vatican official of such high rank has visited the United States. His absence from Rome is considered so important that the Pope felt compelled to cut short his brief vacation and return to the Vatican.

It is expected as a matter of course that the Papal Secretary will call upon the President, during his short visit of two weeks. The political world wonders whether he will, directly or through a bishop, communicate with Father Coughlin, so active in politics.

MUSSOLINI, Italian ruler, has issued an interesting order concerning etiquette in Ethiopia. Under Haile Selassie and other Arabic rulers, native Ethiopians including chiefs, on entering the ruler's presence, were compelled to lie flat on the floor, face down and wriggle on their stomachs to the august presence.

To emphasize their servility they literally wriggled like snakes, not even allowed to go on hands and knees. At regular intervals they struck their foreheads three times on the ground.

Mussolini tells them to stand up and walk in.

This will seem strange to native Ethiopians, at first, and some will probably think it a sign of weakness; they will discover that they are mistaken.

WE GO UP and down quickly in the United States, particularly in new enterprises. William Fox, once one of the most energetic, successful of moving picture men, now a bankrupt, tells the court that in 1930 he was worth one hundred million dollars; now he has only "odds and ends" meaning only a few hundred thousands, here and there.

One other well known, able moving picture man refused sixty million dollars cash for his holding a short time ago. What was then worth sixty millions, melted to nothing.

AMID all the discussions, fighting, hatreds, denunciations, accusations and libels of the day, you might spare a moment's sympathy for Queen Mary of England. After ruling Buckingham Palace as its royal mistress, and wife of King George for twenty-five years, she gave up the great palace forever Thursday, driving with her son, the new king, and her daughter, the Princess Royal, to her new modest residence, Marlborough House.

Her staff of servants will be cut down, but she will have her "women of the bedchamber" to read to her in the evening and look after her mail; and more important, the grateful English people will always look upon her as a real queen, even without her royal husband, the ideal British sovereign.

IN GIVING JAPAN credit for the place that she has made for herself in so few years, we must remember that her important war has not been the conquest of China, or of Russia, on one occasion, but her successful war against the forces of nature, tidal waves, earthquakes, volcanoes.

The latest attack on Japan's peace of mind comes with an eruption of Mount Asama, vomiting ashes like that which buried Pompeii, scattering them over villages for fifty miles around.

It is inevitable that Japan, where millions of human beings are crowded up on small volcanic islands, should seek to expand. She might well be anxious to move away completely.

THREE NEW YORK reporters in a race against time around the world were exactly even last night, end of the first day out, for the good reason that they were all aboard the same Hindenburg dirigible, crossing the ocean.

When you read this, they will have landed in Europe, and be boarding airplanes to continue the race around the world. It has grown smaller.

Wampum Quartet In Auto Mishap

Prevented From Appearing At Teachers Institute This Morning

While en route to the Lawrence county teachers convention at Union high school, the members of a quartet from the Wampum high school featured in an accident on the road about one-half mile from Willow Grove this morning.

The car was being driven by Glenn Davis, and the other members of the quartet included Joseph Craven, Dorothy Conner and Loretta Dochio. None of the occupants of the car was seriously injured, but they were bruised enough to hinder them from attending the morning session and taking part in the program.

A number of musical selections had been scheduled, under the direction of Miss Betty Mae Boyer, musical instructor of the school.

They struck an automobile bearing an Ohio license and both cars were thrown from the road and considerably damaged.

Fire Prevention Week Will Start

Citizens Urged To Clean Up Fire Hazards About Homes And Businesses

COOPERATION PREVENTS LOSS

Next week will be observed throughout the nation as Fire Prevention Week, and the co-operation of the citizens of New Castle is urged by Fire Chief A. P. McIlwain, in eliminating fire hazards which exist about the home and business establishments of the city.

Since taking office as fire chief early this year, Chief McIlwain has had one of the men from the department engaged in making inspections of local business establishments, and where fire hazards are found, the offenders are notified to eliminate them.

It is impossible to make an inspection of the homes, but a careful check by the home owner will reveal many of these hazards, and it is to his own interest to remove the condition.

In 1935, it is estimated, 10,000 persons lost their lives in fires in this country. The property loss in the same period amounted to close to $250,000,000, a staggering sum. A great deal of this loss could have been prevented by using proper precaution, it is pointed out by fire underwriters, who investigate the cause of all fires covered by insurance.

Reading Strike Riot Results In Victim's Death

Two Others Battle For Lives In Hospital As Result Of Attacks

(International News Service)

READING, Pa., Oct. 3.—Death today claimed one of the three persons hurt seriously in Thursday's wild strike riots outside the plant of the Berkshire Knitting Mills in suburban Wyomissing.

Forty others were injured in the series of clashes between pickets, sympathizers and police.

The dead man was M. Earl Schlegel, 25, of Reading, a non-striking knitter employed at the plant, who was struck on the head by a brick allegedly hurled from the picket line as he was driving past the mill gates. Death was attributed to a crushed skull.

Meanwhile, State Trooper John M. Woerner and John McCarragher, 18, of Reading, a strike picket, were battling for their lives on hospital beds. The former suffered a fractured skull when he was hit on the head by a rock and the latter felled by blows in the melee.

Complete order again prevailed today in the vicinity of the mill, where picketing has been called off until Monday as a result of a truce agreed upon by union men and the company's representatives at the request of Gov. George H. Earle. The chief executive will attempt to conciliate both factions before picketing is resumed on Monday.

Youngstown Man Has Filed Suit Against Columbia

Files Suit Against Trustees, Refused Permission To Enter College This Year

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Robert Burke, president-elect of the class of 1938 at Columbia university, has filed suit against trustees of the university seeking to compel them to accept him as a student, it was learned today.

Burke was refused permission to register this year because of his leadership in a demonstration at the home of Nicholas M. Butler, Columbia's president, last May 12 protesting against the university's sending delegates to Heidelberg university's celebration.

Arthur Garfield Hays, who filed the action for Burke, pointed out in the suit that Burke came down from his Youngstown, O., home at great expense, that the university made a contract with him when accepting him as a student, and that it has not abided by its agreement to accord him the same privileges as other students. His suit asks that the university be compelled to accept him as a junior classman, permit him to continue studies and take examinations.

CROSSING CRASH VICTIMS IMPROVE

E. train at Carbon Crossing, west of Edensburg last Friday night, have recovered sufficiently to leave the Jamestown Memorial hospital where they have been undergoing treatment.

Dispute Ends In Tragic Shooting

Washington Cab-Driver Is Shot To Death By His Landlord

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3.—Mrs. Raymond Childress was a widow today. Her five children were being cared for by friends. Her husband, Raymond, 35-year-old cab driver, was dead, the victim of a bullet which settled a dispute over $11 which two men, Childress and his landlord Donald K. Statton, 37, might have settled in the courts.

Childress, who paid Statton $11 weekly rent, was $11 in arrears. This he refused to pay until Statton placed screens on the windows of his apartment. Statton refused to furnish the screens until Childress paid.

Killed Instantly
Both visited a police precinct separately, and were told to take the matter to court. Yesterday Statton evicted Mrs. Childress while her husband was at work and barred the door to their apartment.

When Childress returned home, his wife told him what had happened, adding that Statton had taken the children's mattresses. Childress, a powerful man, burst through the barred door. Statton, inside, fired one shot from a 32-caliber revolver, the bullet killing Childress instantly.

General Secretary R. L. Meermans was present with the group which included spokesmen for The Townsmen, the Pro Indus club, men of the "Y" dormitory, the Key Men's club, Phalanx fraternity and the Uparatasa fraternity.

The year's program was tentatively considered and the council set Tuesday evening, October 20 as its next meeting date. Each council member will take with him to that session another member of the group he represents.

Fuehrer Hitler will resign as chancellor of the German Reich, according to rumors from abroad which have not been substantiated. Gen. T. W. DICKEY TO BE TOASTMASTER

James L. Fieser, ranking vice chairman of the American Red Cross, and Walter Davidson, assistant manager of the Eastern Area of the Red Cross will be the principal speakers at the annual Regional Conference of the Red Cross in Western Pennsylvania, on Tuesday, when representatives from forty-one counties in the western and central section of the state will be here for the sessions which will last through the day.

In previous years, two meetings were held in this area but this year,

a. m. will take place in The Castle-ton, with Paul F. Butz, chairman of the Lawrence County Chapter, presiding.

The principal meeting of the day will be the luncheon at 12:45, with Attorney Thomas W. Dickey presiding as toastmaster. Mr. Fieser will speak at this session, his subject being "The People's Red Cross."

Mr. Fieser, because of his long association with the Red Cross, will have an interesting message. His experiences have run the gamut from flood to drought, from tornado to earthquake. There is never a year without from sixty to a hundred Red Cross disaster operations, and Mr. Fieser's personal supervision has been given to many and varied disasters.

AROUND CITY HALL

Some weeks ago complaint was made to the city that a sanitary sewer had broken in Quest street. Health authorities determined the location of the leak and today B. P. Butler, in charge of city sewers, said the job of repairing the leak had been turned over to that bureau.

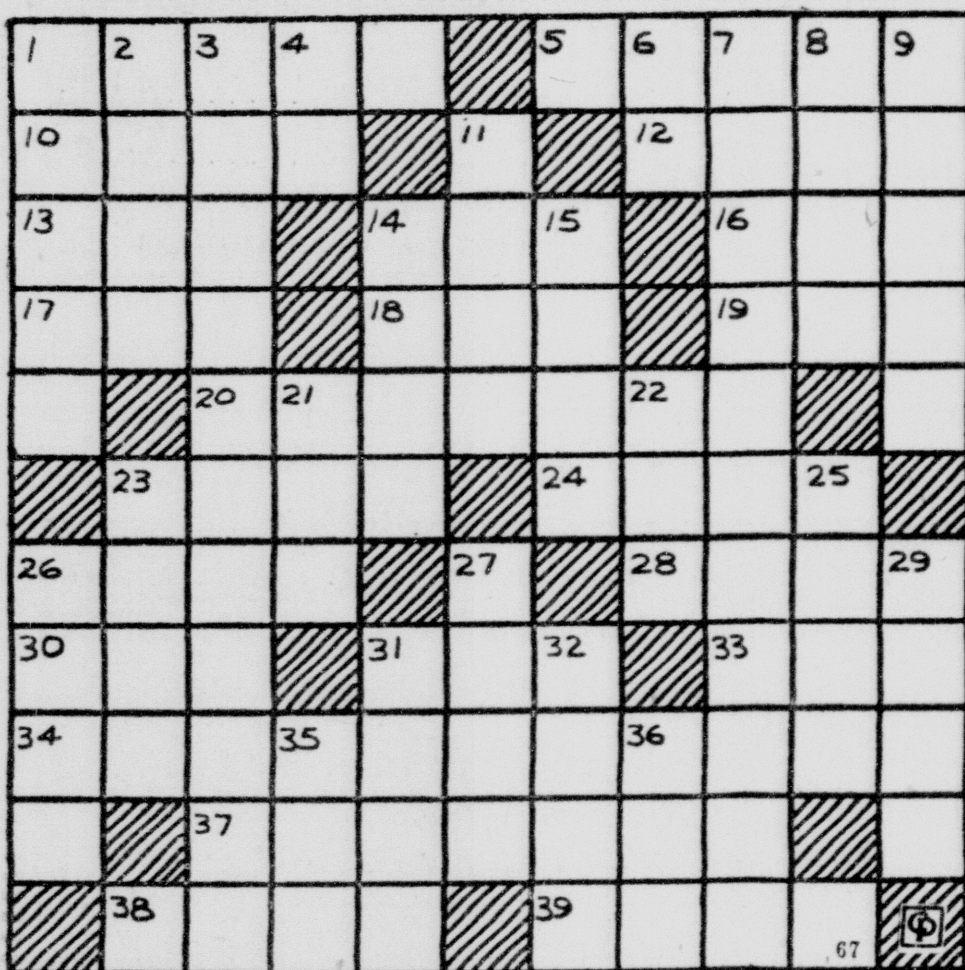

Every evening one can journey along the New Castle-Wampum highway and see gardeners returning from the disposal plant area with small vehicles filled with vegetables, the result of their effort. The city has for years allowed persons to grow vegetables on that site.

Chief of Police Ralph Criswell's blunt warning that unless youths quit damaging property and displayed a respect for the rights of others he would make effective the curfew law has had a lot of effect. Many of the boys now realize that the chief's warning contained truth.

Daily adjustments of various kinds of trouble are effected at the city police station and of which the public seldom hears. Domestic clashes and cases where young people are straying from the right path are some of the problems adjusted.

NEW CASTLE DEFEATS BEAVER FALLS 7 TO 0

Tigers Surprise "Red Hurricanes"

New Castle Extended To Limit To Win Fourth Game Of Year; Charley Mort Scores Lone Touchdown In Tough Battle; New Castle Has 13 First Downs To One For Visitors; Beaver Falls Best Defensive Team Seen Here In Recent Years; DeCaprio Plays Part Of Game; Crowd Numbers 6,500.

Over 6,500 fans, many of them from Beaver Falls, saw in the stands spell bound at the defensive work of the Tiger eleven. It was not until the third period that New Castle's offensive clicked into action to allow Charles "Stormy" Mort to scamper over the goal line for the line tally of the game. It was one of the best games of recent years here and proved that a smart defensive team is hard to back.

New Castle ran up 13 first downs to one for the Beaver Falls boys. This didn't phase the valley boys one bit. They kept plugging away. They fought every inch of the way, and on several occasions stopped New Castle when a touchdown was expected momentarily.

Tigers Tough
Head Coach Phil Bridenbaugh said "These Tigers were good, weren't they, and say did you see that Tigers back bristle up when he thought his goal line was in danger."

"I hope that we never meet another team like that one this year, it's hard on the nerves. New Castle was just not up to par in the offensive punch last night, or we would have had a bigger score," would this Bridenbaugh sauntered off to take a look at the injured DeCaprio.

Exchange Of Punts
The game began with New Castle kicking off to Beaver Falls on the 20-yard line and Rose returned to the Beaver Falls 32 before he was brought down. Two or three plays failed at the line and Killian stepped back and booted it down to Charley Mort on the New Castle 40. New Castle tried a few plays, failed to gain and Mumford kicked back to the Tigers. Killian kicked back to Mort on the New Castle 38 and he ran to the 48. Mort clipped off 20 yards for a first down.

It looked like a New Castle score in the first period, with the "Hurricane" hammering away at the line until the New Castle offensive threat was finally halted at the Beaver Falls 9 yard line when New Castle failed to make the yardage. Killian immediately booted out to the Beaver Falls 22 yard line. New Castle rushed the ball right back to the shadow of the goal line, and again found the Tigers fighting mad. This time New Castle got to the 2-yard line and was halted on downs, when Perrett and Mort were stopped. Killian again kicked out of danger. Mort took the ball and returned to the Beaver Falls 19 as the first period ended.

Three times in the first period it looked like a New Castle tally, and three times the Tigers put up such an impregnable defense that it would have taken a tractor to get through.

Same Old Story
The start of the second period gave new hopes to the New Castle fans with Coach Bridenbaugh sending in "Gabby" DeCaprio to replace Stan Komic at fullback. Perrett clipped off two yards, and Mort and DeCaprio made two more. When the "Hurricanes" reached the Beaver Falls 15-yard line they found the Tigers waiting. New Castle lost the ball on downs and Killian punted out of danger. Mort took the kick and returned it to the Beaver Falls 39 yard line. Perrett and DeCaprio picked up a first down on two tries. New Castle was again in the shadow of the goal line and it looked as if the red shirted boys would surely score this time. But, it was the same old story. The Tigers simply refused to let the New Castles scare them and stopped another threat, after New Castle had tried two passes. Killian kicked out to the New Castle team on the Beaver Falls 40-yard line. New Castle tried two plays and Mumford booted to Beaver Falls on the 20. Lonnert fumbled and New Castle recovered on the Beaver Falls 19-yard line. It was another chance for the "Canes" to punch it over the line. This time the New Castles were fighting mad and Perrett and DeCaprio picked up 10 yards between them and made it first and ten on the Beaver Falls nine-yard line. The hands on the clock were spinning around rapidly. The period was just about over. There was time for one or two more plays. Charley Mort took the ball and dashed to the Beaver Falls 3 yard stripe just as the first half ended. Another New Castle threat was halted.

Come Back Fighting
After a very (entertaining) intermission for both teams the players returned for the third period. The Tigers of Beaver Falls were elated at the showing made in the first half. They had expected the New Castles to be some touchdowns ahead at this point in the game.

New Castle was fighting mad this time. Killian booted off to Mort and old Stormy returned to the 30-yard line. After three plays in which the New Castle offense picked up eight yards Mumford punted to Beaver Falls, but the visitors drew a 15 yard penalty and gave New Castle a first down. Five more yards for offense made 20 yards in penalties against the Tigers. Trn fumbled on the next play and recovered for a 7-yard loss. A pass Trn to Lewis was good for 10 yards, then Killian punted to New Castle back in the New Castle territory. Perrett made it first and ten New Castle on the N. C. 27 as the third period ended.

Charley Mort Scores
Perrett heaved a pass that caught the Tigers napping and Mort took it and raced to the Beaver Falls 15-yard line before being forced out of bounds. The pass was good for a 20-yard gain. Perrett picked up six yards in two tries at the line. Charley Mort gave the fans their real thrill of the game as far as New Castle was concerned when he scampered through from the 10 and crossed the goal line with a galaxy of Tigers on his neck. Mumford kicked the extra-point and that concluded the scoring for the evening.

Fumbles Costly
New Castle kicked off to Beaver Falls following the touchdown march and Beaver Falls started to click Killian picked up 14 yards at one time for the only first down of the game for the Tigers. Trn fumbled on the next play and recovered for a 7-yard loss. A pass Trn to Lewis was good for 10 yards, then Killian punted to New Castle back in the New Castle territory. Perrett made it first and ten New Castle on the N. C. 27 as the third period ended.

Mumford punted to Beaver Falls on the visitors 40-yard line soon after the fourth period began. A Beaver Falls pass was intercepted by DeCaprio on the Beaver Falls 40-yard line. DeCaprio was injured but stayed in the game after a little medical attention. Perrett passed to Mort good for a first down on the Beaver Falls 30. Perrett and DeCaprio picked up another first down on the Beaver Falls 20, after three tries at the line.

DeCaprio fumbled and Beaver Falls recovered on their own 13. Killian elected to kick on the first play and Mort took it on the New Castle 47. There was only time left for two or three plays and the game ended with New Castle in possession of the ball.

Washington Next

In picking out the best performers last night we would say that Louie Leonard, Vargo, and Mumford played fine ball for the locals. Mort and Perrett were the best ball carriers. For the visitors it would be Jimmy Marshall and this man Boggs for honors, with the Groom brothers a close second. In the backfield Killian and Lonnert performed yeoman service.

It was New Castle's third Class AA conference victory of the year. The fourth Class AA game comes next Saturday at Washington.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

An intercepted lateral pass in the second quarter paved the road for a six to nothing victory for Waynesburg over St. Vincent at Latrobe last night. Wasko, left Yellow Jacket end, caught the sphere as Baran, backfielder for St. Vincent, tried to pass the ball while skirting right end. Wasko, with good interference, ran 81 yards for the only score of the game.

Jack Dempsey's heavyweight protégé Red Burman of Baltimore succumbed before John Henry Lewis last night at Chicago. Lewis was awarded a technical knockout in the second round.

One week from today the sportsmen and their dogs will have their day at the New Castle Fair grounds. Many events for both have been carded. Thousands are expected to participate in the contests.

Pamela Barton, reigning British titleholder and Maureen Orcutt, Crews of Englewood, N. J., advanced to the final of the fortieth U. S. Women's golf championship at Summit, N. J., Friday. Shenango Loses First Home Game

Schiedmante Runs 97 Yards For Touchdown As Zelenople Wins, 20 To 0

LARGE CROWD SEES FAST GAME FRIDAY

While a bright October sun shined down on twenty-two stalwart griders, Friday afternoon, several hundred spectators witnessed a football game filled with thrills as Zelenople high piled up on impressive 20-0 triumph over a fighting Shenango Township high school grid machine, at Shenango field.

From start to finish the contest was packed with an assortment of football that spells "a peach of a game". The early stage of the first quarter was a punting battle between Jimmy Irvine, Shenango back and John Schiedmante. The school boys really put on a thrilling punting battle, Irvine standing out in this phase of the game. Near the end of the first quarter, Schiedmante booted a quick kick to the East New Castle team's 30. Irvine came right back with a line kick, near mid-field. Schiedmante on the first play raced back to the 50, let loose a rifle pass which landed into the open arms of Sankey who zig zagged his way to the Shenango 3. The play resulted in a 47 yard gain. Schiedmante worked his way through the line for one yard. W. Zeigler plunged his way over the goal line for the first Zelenople score. Beres' placement kick was wide. Score, Zelenople 6, Shenango 0. The quarter ended as the teams started to lineup for the kick-off.

Grabbing Schiedmante's kick-off Irvine punted the ball back, catching the Zelenople boys flat-footed. The oval dropped on the Zelenople 10. Schiedmante booted to his opponents' 40. After two plays Irvine punted. Pitzer, alert Shenango full back, recovered a free ball on the 41. Irvine tossed a pass to Pitzer, who gained 16 yards before being downed. Another aerial attempt, Irvine to Grinziwich, was good for a couple of yards. Irvine kicked the piskin over the goal line as the half ended. Score, Zelenople 6, Shenango 0.

Thrilling Half

A Shenango fumble paved the way for the second touchdown for the visiting team. Pitzer dropped the oval, following the kick-off, Sankey recovering for Zelenople. On the first play, Schiedmante whizzed a sharp pass to L. Zeigler who camped himself under the ball and raced to the 12. Schiedmante, on the next play, made 2 on a line kick. W. Zeigler and Schiedmante, again tried the Shenango wall but were smeared. This same Schiedmante chap heaved another pretty pass which fell into the mitts of L. Zeigler, who ran over the last chalk mark. Robinson successfully kicked the ball between the uprights for the thirteenth Zelenople point.

At the beginning of the final quarter, Shenango muffed a wonderful opportunity of crossing their opponent's goal line. On the first play of the quarter, Zelenople drew a 15 yard penalty. Schiedmante dropped back in an attempt to kick to safety but the Shenango eleven covered him, Lysko recovering for Shenango on the 6. Irvine to Lysko a short pass, moved the oval just a few feet away from the goal line. After a line buck failed, the Lawrence Countians tried another pass which was knocked down.

Runs 97 Yards

The visitors kicked to safe territory. On the "sleeper play" Alfredo passed to Irvine, who was parked along the sidelines. Irvine mowed his way to the Zelenople 8. Alfredo was nailed at the line. Lysko's pass, intended for one of the ends was intercepted by John Schiedmante who snatched the ball on his own 3 yard mark and through perfect interference and a nice piece of running on his part, raced the remaining 97 yards for a touchdown. The run was one of the longest recorded in Lawrence county football circles. Robinson annexed the extra marker via the placement kick method. Final score, Zelenople 20, Shenango 0.

Those who gathered for the first Shenango home game were treated to as thrilling a grid game as any one desires to see. The Shenango line was tough as the carpet used at Boulder Dam. The Coach Nocera wall just refused to give. The aerial attack of the Coach Siljander machine was responsible for the team's third triumph.

John Schiedmante played one of the best games of his career. W. Zeigler and L. Zeigler were also outstanding. For Shenango, the work of Jimmy Irvine, Pitzer, Kirkwood and Grinziwich was quite noticeable. The officials performed their duties in a most capable manner.

The Radiators-Bonnetts softball game for the championship of Lawrence county scheduled for 1 o'clock Sunday at the E. & A. Field has been postponed for one week, by the tourney manager. The two teams will meet next Sunday for the title, at a field to be decided upon at a later date.

Bessemer Meets Firemen Sunday For County Title

Managers Select Dutch Hill And Dick Nord As Opposing Hurlers

EXPECT 5,000 TO SEE GAME

Only 24 hours awaits the signal to play ball which will bring Bessemer and the Sixth Ward Firemen together to decide the baseball supremacy of Lawrence county. The teams will play at 3 p. m. on the E. & A. field, seventh ward. The plat has been put in good condition during the past two days.

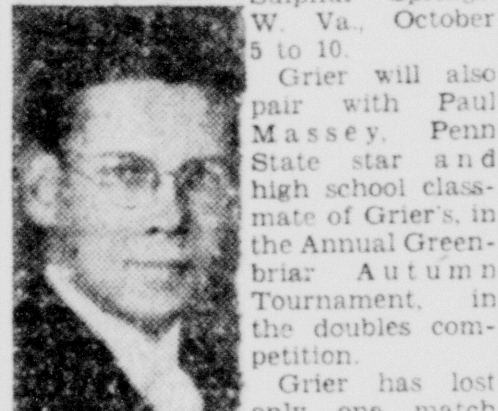

Managers Zeigler and Martin have picked their hurling aces—Dutch Hill for the Firemen and Dick Nord for Bessemer. Both are eager to turn in a win. Hill has won twice from Bessemer and Nord once from the Firemen.

Each team has won two games on their home field. However, Sunday's game is to be played in a neutral zone and indications are at least 5,000 will see the championship of the county determined.

Grier To Play In Tennis Tourney

Westminster Player To Take Part In Middle Atlantic Competition

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 3.—Bob Grier, Westminster tennis ace, will leave Sunday to represent the Titans in singles competition of the Middle Atlantic Intercollegiate Tennis Tournament, to be held at Whites Sulphur Springs, W. Va., October 5 to 10.

Grier will also pair with Paul Massey, Penn State star and high school classmate of Grier's, in the Annual Greenbriar Autumn Tournament, in the doubles competition. Grier has lost only one match out of 22 played at Westminster during three years of intercollegiate tennis. His one loss came at the hands of a former high school classmate now at Muskingum college.

In extracurricular activities Grier has been very active. He is a member of Tau Upsilon Omega fraternity, of which he is scribe; a member of the Student Council and Sphinx, senior men's honorary fraternity; and has been active in Little Theatre productions.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Grier, 146 Woodhaven Drive, Mt. Lebanon.

Evans Scores

The only score of the battle came in the second period. The Cowmeadowians had driven deep into the Washington territory. The seventh warders lost the ball on downs. Washington high tried a pass, and Charley Evans, the fleet-footed Mahoning backfield man, picked the ball out of the air and raced 35 yards for the touchdown. A pass from Chambers to Zarilla gave the seventh warders their extra point.

First Big Victory

The Mahonings made five tries in eight attempts at passing. The whole Mahoning line played good football with Adamo and Piccirillo the outstanding performers. Castucci, the big Mahoning tackle, spent a lot of time in the Washington backfield. This was the first junior high team that the Mahonings ever beat and were those boys a happy lot when the game ended. Well, they had a right to be. The Mahoning team served notice on Franklin high to take heed in the game scheduled for later in the year. Austin Cowmeadow is coaching the Mahoning team, and is being assisted by "Blackie" Adamo, former New Castle high star center.

LAZZERI TIES SERIES RECORD WITH HOMER ON BASES FULL

Elmer Smith, in the 1920 Cleveland-Brooklyn world series, poled out a homer with bases full. That mark stood until the second game of this world series, when Tony Lazzeri, veteran second baseman of the New York Yankees, crashed a circuit clout through in the third inning of the second game and brought in four runs. Our picture shows Tony cantering contentedly across the plate. His blast scored Gehrig, Dickey and Powell before him.

Yankees Set New Records, Win 18 To 4

Tony Lazzeri Sets Series Record With Homer With Bases Full

GIANTS UNABLE TO HIT GOMEZ

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service

POLO GROUNDS, N. Y., Oct. 3.—With Tony Lazzeri acting as head executioner with a home run that cleared the bases for the second time in world series history, a parade of condemned pitchers was led to the shambles Friday afternoon while the New York Yankees bludgeoned their way to an 18 to 4 victory over the New York Giants in the second game of baseball's big event. A crowd estimated at more than 45,000, witnessed the carnage, with President Roosevelt throwing out the first ball.

They were breaking out the fourth dozen by the time the Yankees got through with Schumacher, Smith, Coffman, Gabler and Gumbert for 17 hits and a run, and the Giants were unable to get a hit in 13 innings.

The first of these was Lazzeri's home run, which broke all world series records. The former pitcher, 13 runs, was made by the Athletics against the Giants in 1911 and equaled by the Giants against the Yankees in 1921.

The total runs of the game, 22, also constituted a record, the old mark, 19, having been made by the Yankees and Cubs four years ago. This picturesque and competitive abattoir served to even the series at one victory each, the Giants having won the opener behind the great pitching of Carl Hubbell.

Friday there was no Hubbell; only a succession of sleight-of-hand artists who invariably made the ball disappear somewhere in the outfield and twice beyond the fence.

The first of these was Lazzeri's home run, which broke all world series records. The former pitcher, 13 runs, was made by the Athletics against the Giants in 1911 and equaled by the Giants against the Yankees in 1921.

Fitzsimmons To Oppose Hadley In Third Game

Yanks Even Up Series Count With Terrific Batting Power In Second Game

GIANTS FIGHTING MAD AT MOMENT

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Wearily and with the air of one who has suffered a great shock, the comedy-frantic world's series of 1936 now standing at one victory each, lifted itself back upon its punch-drunk heels today and tottered brokenly across the bridge from the Polo Grounds to the Yankee Stadium for the third and possibly its most violent seizure.

Perhaps a simpler way of saying this is to state that the respective pitchers will be two gentlemen named Freddie (Fat) Fitzsimmons and Irving (Bump) Hadley.

They happen to be the type to which seizures are commonplace and violence acute. Besides, after what happened yesterday during the Yankees' smashing, colossal, epoch-making and, in fact, downright dispiriting 18 to 4 annihilation of the Giants in the second game, it hardly seemed to matter whether or not they might be attempted during this wholly grotesque event. Cast in the role of drama, it has turned into a competitive buffoon.

On Wednesday, the opening game took place during a downpour that would have stopped a South American revolution. On Thursday, the rain ceased; so they didn't play at all. And yesterday there were times when you wanted to cry out, and they do at a one-sided prize fight, "stop it, stop it. That man's in terrible shape. Stop it before it's too late."

This feeling was especially urgent after Dickey had hit his homer with two on in the ninth to top off a day's history.

In the third inning, Tony Lazzeri hit a ball 250 feet into the right field stand for a homer with three on, equalling Elmer Smith's performance of the 1920 series. In the fifth, Lazzeri hit a ball 450 feet into center field for a put out. In the fourth, Bartell almost furnished the incredible with another homer with three on, this time three Giants, the ball curving foul by a foot.

At the end, the Yankees had broken by five runs the series record for scoring by one team in a single game. The 22 runs of both teams broke another record, while a third was provided by L. McGuffery Gomez. He can't hit the ball with his bat, but he singled off the first ball pitched to him in the ninth to drive in the record-equalling thirteenth run, and brought in the fourteenth for a new record.

There were other records, including the five runs batted in by Lazzeri in the first inning, the four runs in one inning by Lazzeri, the largest winning margin, 14 runs, Lazzeri's seven put outs in center field to tie a record, and this served to confirm only what is known, admitted and too thoroughly established—the fact that this will be a legitimate world's series every time Carl Hubbell pitches. And when he doesn't, it won't.

My New York
By James Aswell

Copyright, 1936, Centra Press Association
NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Press Agents
You toss their daily epistles into the wastepaper basket 99.99 per cent of the time, and yet, with the years you begin to have a certain mellow forbearance toward them. If only they didn't write so badly!

But they hammer you with their hopeful mimeograph day after day, winter and summer, until even the more terrible example take on a picturesque charm. You have the same tolerance toward them you used to have toward the lady in the Minnesota insane asylum who wrote you every day for three years complaining about "the gang higher up" that was persecuting her and then stopped abruptly after two letters in which she seemed to confuse you with Beatrice Fairfax.

There is the one who sends you telegrams on your birthday and once gave you a wastebasket for Christmas. And the one who addresses you with fiendish persistence as "Miss Minnie Aswell." ...
The one who sends you 5,000 word biographies of radio stars you've never heard of. The one with the enormous red mustaches employed by the flossiest of the perfume manufacturers.

There is the one who believes in ghosts and who tips you to more excellent, disinterested material than any other. And the one who writes you about night clubs in remote seaboard cities; once he told you about a hotspot in Mexico City.
...The one who took the white ribbon temperance pledge at eleven and spent most of his adult life in an atmosphere of champagne popping and ice tinkling—without ever violating the pledge.

Or the one who did so much to publicize Harlem in that sector's palmiest days, only to return to the carpentering business without a sigh when the uptown high-jinks subsided. ...The one who wrote you letters marked "Exclusive and Personal" but who, you discovered, was sending identical copies to all the other chatterboxes. ...The one who successfully played Boswell to one of the elaborate cabarets for years and was complimented on the verve and gloss of his releases to the papers—

when all the time he could scarcely read and write and was getting an old-time star reporter, down on his luck to stooge for him. ...The one with the enormous foreign-made limousine, acquired for a bad debt, which he had to dispose of because he couldn't afford gas bills at the rate of four miles to the gallon. ...
Or the scores who copy out old gags from the theatrical joke books and attribute the witty sayings to whatever celebrity they are trying to ballyhoo. ...The one who handled five different—and highly dubious—night clubs in as many months with out collecting a cent in salary from any of them—and from one of which he was summarily fired when he brought his girl to dinner on the cuff one night. ...The one who believes that the best possible notoriety for all his clients is to have them nabbed for some phony misdemeanor by the police. ...

The one who calls you regularly and begs you to mention somebody whom you might have mentioned anyhow but never will now that he has begged for it. ...The one who actually worked for a newspaper once—for four whole months. ...The one who never has described himself as a former newspaperman. ...
The one who knows what kind of data newspapers are eager to get and has a genuinely sound news sense. ...The one who thinks you are "sore" at him when you find nothing to interest you in any of his trained seals for months on end. ...
Or the one who marks his mimeographed blurbs "Confidential"— which is certainly the last thing he desires them to be. ...The one of the gentle sex who believes your readers would like to know all about exhibitions of hooked rugs and Persian pottery—and they might at that!

THE PARENT PROBLEM

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TEACHERS NOT ALWAYS DEPENDABLE

AMONG ADULTS who are supposed to be good lights of character, about the least dependable are Sunday school teachers. To test this statement, go visit a Sunday school, arriving before the time when the school is supposed to begin. You will find, in almost any Sunday school, a large number of teachers arriving late, some not arriving at all. Maybe the superintendent is late, too!
Hardly will you find all the staff present. Almost never has the absent teacher provided a substitute, or even announced to the superintendent his expected absence. Some of these delinquent persons are very dependable in their week day business. But this is just Sunday school.
It seems to me that a Sunday school superintendent, if he is himself dependable, would become very cynical of human nature and often would ask himself "Why can't more persons who are pillars of the church be depended upon?"

If day school teachers were as delinquent as are Sunday school teachers they would soon lose their jobs as lacking good moral character.

Some day most Sunday school teachers like day school teachers, will be paid and will then be held up to like standards of preparation and fitness and devotion to duty.
In a few places this is being achieved. But for years to come Sunday school teachers will have to be volunteers.

Piety Necessary
The first qualification usually considered in the choice of these teachers is manifest piety and convictions on the tenets of faith of the particular church. Needless to say, this is from the angle of the church, is very important; yet it is undoubtedly receives undue emphasis. There are other items equally important, if not more so. Does she understand children? Can she win the genuine esteem of her pupils?
Can she make the lesson interesting—Is she dependable? The last one I would place first. Without it I would not be very sure of reality in any of the others.

Strangely enough, many Sunday school teachers can be late or absent from duty with a conscience wholly undisturbed. They must never have been much impressed by those ringing words, "He that is faithful in that which is least will also be faithful in that which is great."

We admire the Sunday school teacher who will not smoke, for example, because she wishes to set a good example before her children.
We would admire her still more if she were consistent and proved by example that she is dependable.

I wish Sunday school teachers who lack the character or the opportunity to be prompt and regular in attendance or have a reliable substitute, would as a moral obligation to growing, impressionable children, resign at once.

On Court House Hill

A court house official who had forgotten the name of the vice president of the United States had to ask three people this morning before he could find the answer. Looks as though the vice president is that "forgotten man" your hear so much about.

Under the will of the late John W. Fulkman of Wilmington township, which has been admitted to probate at the register and recorder's office, decedent leaves all of his property, real and personal to his widow, Ada F. Fulkman. After her death it is to go to their six children, Dorris L. Fulkman, Bessie
I. Neal, Chester A. Fulkman, John
A. Fulkman, George K. Fulkman and Mary J. Thompson, in equal shares. The widow, Ada L. Fulkman and son, Dorris L. Fulkman are named as executors.

Since President Roosevelt, Col.
Frank Knox and Al Smith spoke over the radio Thursday night, a favorite pastime among attorneys and officials at the court house has been a discussion of their speeches.
Of the three speeches, a large majority seem to have liked Al Smith's speech the best. It's particular appeal seemed to be the humorous manner in which Al brought out some of his points. His reference to "high hat" and "brown derby" drew many comments. Col. Knox's speech was viewed as expressing in a clear and forceful manner what may happen to the financial interests of the country under continued spending, while the strongest point of President's Roosevelt's speech was considered to be his comparisons of the national income during the past three years.

Under the will of the late Isaac Baldwin of West Pittsburg, admitted to probate in the register and recorders' office, all his property,
real and personal, is left to his wife, Mary E. Baldwin.

In increase in the business of the register and recorder's office this year over last, is shown by the records on October 1. Last year up until October 1, there were 1944 instruments of all kinds recorded, the majority being deeds and mortgages. This year on October 1, the record stood at 2099, or an increase of 155. Mr. Hanna points out that last year there were a great many home owners loan mortgages recorded, and very little of this financing this year, which shows a more normal run of business. One of the encouraging features this year has been an increase in the number of deeds for the sale of real estate, indicating that the real estate market is becoming more active. There is also more home financing, particularly by the building and loan associations, which have been placing a majority of all kinds recorded.
Present indications point to increasing realty transfer and home financing during the remainder of the year.

No figures have yet been filed at the county commissioners' office that would enable taxpayers to compare assessments of city property made by the county assessors with those being made for the city by the city assessors. Before the triennial assessment was made the county commissioners asked the city assessors to go around with the city assessors and make their valuations, so that they might be able to agree. The county assessors indicated an acceptance of this plan, but it seems that none of them have carried it out, and so they are making independent assessments.
In the past there has been considerable variance in the city and the county assessments and the new triennial assessment is likely to show a similar condition. It looks very much like a duplication of work to have two sets of assessors go over the same property, but the law provides for the office of county assessors, and there is not much that can be done about it except to repeal the law, particularly as it applies to cities.

COMPANY TO APPEAL IN DEATH CASE

BEAVER, Pa., Oct. 3.—Motion for a new trial was filed today in the case of the Motor Express Co. of Youngstown, convicted in connection with the death of Margaretta McCowan, a school teacher.
A jury had found the company
guilty of involuntary manslaughter.
The state had charged the company was negligent in its alleged failure to properly secure, to a truck, a giant casting which rolled off the truck at the foot of the Fallston hill and crushed the girl, passing in her automobile, to death.

TWIN SISTERS, 81, DIFFER IN POLITICS

WAYNESBURG, Pa., Oct. 3.—
Greene county's oldest twins, Mrs.
Sarah Gray and Mrs. Anna Phillips, who live across the street from each other at nearby Rogersville, celebrated their eighty-first birthday today. Both are widows, both have flower gardens, both belong to the Methodist Episcopal church.
Mrs. Gray is a Democrat and Mrs.
Phillips is a Republican, but they don't argue politics. They are daughters of the late John and Sarah Stewart Thomas and were born at Jollytown, Greene county.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 3.—She never took any interest in political mat-

That's the tale of Mrs. Jennie E.
Wehrli, widow, who said:
"I admired Governor Landon's address which I read in the newspapers. Then I was asked to vote and said I would. When I make up my mind it is made up—so I registered."
